Rimby is Prosperous

Heaviest Crop in Years Being Harvested in This Favored Farming Center

The Town of Rimby, situated about thirty-five miles northwest of Lacombe is one of the most thriving farming centers in the Province. The town is located on high land, near the entrance to the Blindman Valley, and commands an unobstructed view of this fertile valley for many miles. A drive to Rimby just now will be a revelation to anyone. Hundreds of thousands of acres of grain in stock, threshers working on every hand, and the autumn tints of the trees makes a picture not soon to be forgotten.

Rimby was founded by the Rimby Brothers, who came west about thirty-five years ago from the Central States, seeking a favorable location for farming and stock raising. In the Rimby country they found their ideal, and taking up land there, a trading center was soon formed, and has grown since that day until at present the Town of Rimby is one of the most up-to-date settlements in the west. Every line of business is represented here, and the residents boast of most modern conveniences, such as electric power and light, private water systems, etc.

Before the advent of the Lacombe and Blindman Electric Railway about 1914, Rimby's trading centre on the railway was Lacombe, and all grain, cattle, and hogs were shipped from this place. It was no uncommon sight in those days to see from fifty to one hundred wagon loads of hogs come into Lacombe, together with large herds of fat cattle, etc. The Rimby country was especially adapted for mixed farming, and the railway being so far off, it was found more profitable to feed their grain to live stock, for which at that time there was an unlimited market.

In 1914 the railway was got under way, and Rimby was made the terminus for several years. A railway station was built, elevators were soon erected and the long, tedious haul to Lacombe was a thing of the past. The farmers of this district have stayed with their first love, however, and still go extensively into the raising of live stock. The district is famed as one of the best in the west.

To the west and north of Rimby there are extensive timber limits, with many saw mills turning out millions of feet of first class lumber, which finds a market all over the west.

The town itself is splendidly laid out; the streets are wide and well kept, and there are many lovely homes, with well planted grounds. It has a look of prosperity at all times.

BUY ALBERTA PRODUCTS

The main topic of conversation and the never failing source of supply for the reporter on a news hunt during the recent months have been either the low price of wheat or unemployment and many an argument has been used in discussing the cause of unemployment. The problem of keeping the unemployed and their families from starving has been made a political football, municipalities, provincially and federally, bundles of panaceas have been advanced, but no solution found.

What is the primary cause of unemployment? Probably no one fully appreciates the fact that the problem of unemployment is an individual one and the responsibility for it is also individual. It is all very well to talk about world conditions, the menace of the machine age, and that may apply to some countries. It is all very well to vent that we are over-producing. It is perfectly true that we are producing more than the consuming millions have the ability to purchase; therefore production and consumption are not balanced, but is not true that we are producing more than we SHOULD consume—even in the matter of wheat and other food stuffs necessary to maintain the body in a proper state of health and vigor, we would have to increase our present wheat production, and if it were possible for everyone to purchase the other necessities in order to maintain a decent scale of living, the factories of the world would be working to capacity.

The problem of unemployment in this Province is largely one of our individual making and its solution rests with us as individuals. We have heard a good deal about "Buy At Home." We have all seen the slogan "Buy Goods in Canada and Give More People Work and Bring Better Times," and we have all seen the slogan "Why Not Buy Alberta Made Goods," and we think it is a fine sentiment—for the other fellow. But we have not begun to realize how closely industry and unemployment are interlocked.

Suppose the $700,000.00 worth of American canned soup that came into the Province last year had been made in Alberta or Canada. How many of our present unemployed would have been absorbed in the growing of the raw materials and the manufacture of the finished product? How many other industries would be definitely assisted: the printer, the tin can maker, the manufacturer of cartons, the manufacturer of overalls and all the other things incidental to soup manufacturing.

Take a definite case: We people in Alberta spend an average of $1.75 per capita per year for biscuits. This is what would happen if all these biscuits we consume were made in Alberta:

The average payroll would be approximately $400,000.00 per month. Fifty cars of flour would be used, this means 10,000 bushels of wheat, or 5,300 acres. This acreage would maintain 53 farmers and their families.

37 men would work 45 days to turn this wheat into flour.

10,000 flour barrels would be used. 750,000 barrels of beet sugar would be required giving 750 days work in the sugar factory.

It would take 350 acres of land to grow the beet and would require 25 farmers and 40 laborers to produce them.

Half a million poundweight of lard would be used, 47,451 tons of 22,727 hogs weighing 200 lbs. Figure out in your own mind how many men it requires to look after this number of hogs. The labor would be used to haul the hogs to the packing plant and to produce the lard. The Railway employees to haul the finished product and the other supplies used.

$25,000 would be paid for cartons also made in Alberta.

Spices, flavorings and things of that nature used in making biscuits are either ground or manufactured in Alberta, so more people would be employed in these industries.

Take another example from a different angle. The farmer who is much more directly interested in the development of industry than most people imagine. The farmer is interested to the extent of the following supplies, which are used every year in the coal mining camps of Alberta:

12,000,000 eggs, or the product of 200,000 hens of an approximate value of $360,000.00.

Poultry: 25,250 mixed fowls of an approximate value of $37,800.00. 5,600 beef cattle weight 3,360,000 lbs. of dressed beef $336,000.00. 8,500 hogs, dressing 1,400,000 lbs. of pork, hams, bacon and other cured meats of a value of approximately $420,000.00.

Flour, requiring to grind 300,000 bushels of wheat $180,000.00. 18,000 tons of hay $180,000.00. 160,000 bushels of oats, at an approximate value of $100,000.00. Vegetables, fresh and canned fruit, and honey $448,000.00.

Mine props and timber, largely bought from settlers, $380,000.00.

Therefore, if the coal mining industry is developed along with it, as is every other industry, either directly or indirectly, in the Province. The same illustration could be applied to the chocolate and candy industry; the manufacturers of woolen and knit goods, hat and cap, paint, furniture, packing, cheese, soap, tea, coffee and apple milling, pottery and glass, cosmetics, bedding, brooms and all other things which you and I buy.

While it is true that the purchasing power this year is somewhat less than previous years, largely because of the low price of wheat, it is also true that if we, individually, realized that the solution of unemployment in Alberta,

THREW AWAY HIS
STICKWhen Sciatia Yielded
to Kruschen

There can be no doubt that this man has finished walking with a stick, for it is now four years since he discarded it.

He writes:—"For 18 months I suffered with chronic sciatia and rheumatism, and was unable to walk without the aid of a stick. But after taking Kruschen Salts for a short time, I was able to throw away the stick. It is now four years since this happened, and I have had no return of the complaint, and have not lost a day from work. I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, as they are worth their weight in gold. You can use this letter as you please, as I can honestly recommend Kruschen Salts to any sufferer."—C. F.

If the eliminating organs become sluggish, they permit harmful uric acid to accumulate and deposit itself in the tissues, muscles and joints in the form of needle-pointed crystals, which, piercing the nerve sheaths, cause excruciating pains of sciatia. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate the eliminating organs to healthy, regular action. Mischiefous uric acid is then given no chance to collect.

Liner Card-Sharps
Have Lost Occupation

Practice Is Almost Unknown Now On Atlantic Boats

In many of the world's big cities today, including London, England, are the scattered bands of clever and well-educated men who at one time were expert card-sharps on the great luxury liners.

The depression, which brought about a scarcity of easy money, helped the police in their vigorous campaign against these men, who specialize in card-sharping aboard ships. Their expenses were high and the stakes at most of the games were too low to produce any profit after paying their fares as first-class passengers.

Card-sharping on the Atlantic liners is today almost unknown.

In The Last Analysis

All eyes were focused on Ottawa during the Imperial Conference, and now people in every walk of life will have to settle down and work out their own salvation in the way that seems best. Governments can help and they can hinder too, but the individual in the last analysis is the master of his own fate, says the Toronto Mail and Empire.

U.S. Citizen Abroad

More Americans Living In Alberta Than Any Other Province

More than half of the United States citizens permanently resident abroad are in Canada, it appears from a U.S. state department estimate based on consular reports. Of 404,317 with domicile in foreign countries on January 1 of this year, 223,558 were in the Dominion, according to the estimate.

The number of expatriate Americans has increased since the outset of the depression and rose 18,000 during 1931. Of those recently departed to live abroad many were foreign born persons who secured naturalization in the United States, and have now returned to their native lands. A gain in American citizens living in the United States from 200 in 1931 to 8,222 in 1932, and in the number living in Italy from 5,000 to 12,112 in the same period, is explained by the return of Irish and Italian people to the countries of their birth.

Canada in 1931 gained 5,000 American citizens as residents, partly due to the northward migration of native Americans, but mainly to the repatriation of Canadians naturalized in the U.S. Alberta on the date of the latest estimate had more American inhabitants than any other province—90,477, Ontario with 49,099, Manitoba with 37,706 and Quebec with 24,496 followed. There were 5,208 living in Saskatchewan and 1,736 in the maritimes.

Next to Canada, France was the most popular retreat for Americans abroad. It had 23,910 American residents, followed by the Azores with 9,946, Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Great Britain and China have 10,000 American residents.

Defends Japan's Attitude

Says Japanese Occupation Of Manchuria Is Of Benefit To Chinese

"We in Japan look upon the task of modernizing China with sympathy, but the endless disturbances in that country have been a cause of constant uncertainty in our political and economic relations with her," declared Hon. Iyemasa Tokogawa, Japan's Minister to Canada, in an address at Fort William, recently.

Japan has endeavored to endure for more than a score of years, he said, and with patience and moderation, intolerable moral sufferings and incalculable material damage, solely in the hope that China might one day be awakened to the necessity of restoring her internal peace and order and redressing Japan's wrongs and friendliness. China has failed entirely to do so, Japan's recent actions in Manchuria, he said, were nothing but a legitimate act of self defence. The immediate cause of the Manchurian trouble, the minister maintained, was the destruction of the Japanese owned South Manchurian railway, but this was not an isolated case. It was rooted in many provocations.

The presence of the Japanese in Manchuria has benefited the Chinese on the whole far more than the Japanese.

British Actors To Tour Canada

Itinerary Will Extend From Montreal To The Coast

Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones announce a new tour of Canada this season to present George Bernard Shaw's latest play "Too True To Be Good," in cities from Montreal to Victoria.

Beginning at Montreal on October 17, Colbourne and Jones will visit Toronto, Hamilton and London, Ont., after which they present their other successes, "The Apple Cart" and "The Queen's Husband," in Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

The travelling actor-producers will cover more than 13,000 miles before returning to London in January to present a new play by Robert B. Sherwood.

Sir Barry Jackson will give "Too True To Be Good," its London premiere, while Colbourne and Jones are presenting it in eastern Canada.

New Form Of Advertising

Interesting Process Used To Project Writing On Clouds

Sky writing, a new form of advertising in which the message is projected on the clouds at night, was demonstrated at London. The government recently decided the method was legal. The process involves the use of metal stencils placed in the beam of a powerful searchlight to cast letters on to the cloud base. The searchlight used is of 450,000 candle power. For skirting purposes the limit of its really effective range appears to be a cloud base of about 3,000 feet high. Most of the legends around contained up to twenty-five letters. Some include a design such as the British lion.

Children As Imitators

In every community there are cases where children imitate the bad example of an older person. In the case of children, children develop unfortunate characteristics, but it is usually the exception. Children are natural imitators. They are pretty sure to act like those with whom they are in constant contact.

Manitoba Town To Be Registered On Air Route Maps

Erection of a mast and wind cone on the bank of the Saskatchewan River, as a guide to fliers, will be arranged by the Board of Trade of The Pas, Man., through the co-operation of the Imperial Oil Co.

The wind cone, which will mark the landing place, and a mooring platform for pontoon equipped planes, will be arranged by the board.

H. L. Weber, agent at The Pas, for the Imperial Oil Co., offered the cone and assistance in its erection, and the board accepted the offer, passing a resolution of thanks to Mr. Weber's company.

The board will have The Pas, Man., registered on Canadian air maps as a fully equipped and qualified seaplane base.

The young couple departed happily for Harris' searated farm.

Increase Shown In Canada-Empire Trade

Statistical Review Issued By Department Of Trade and Commerce
Canada is becoming more empire conscious in her purchases.

A statistical review, issued by the Department of Trade and Commerce, showed that nearly 80 per cent. of Canada's imports last month came from empire countries as compared with only 26.3 in the corresponding month last year.

The percentage of foreign imports dropped from 73.7 per cent. in July to approximately 70 per cent.

Compared with the preceding July, Canadian imports last month from foreign countries registered a drop of $10,621,346, while those from empire countries decreased by only $2,000,000.

In July Canada wrested from the Netherlands second place amongst countries of the world in supplying the cheese market of the United Kingdom. British trade figures, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports, show that the leading importations were: New Zealand, 16,602,208 pounds; Canada, 12,288,288 pounds; and Netherlands, 11,384,866 pounds.

There was a sharp advance in the importation of Canadian canned salmon by the United Kingdom in July. British trade figures give the amount as 1,726,928 pounds as compared with 458,872 pounds a year ago. The United States supply last month was 465,584.

Why Outlined Profiles
Are Called Silhouettes

Named After French Finance Minister Noted For Strict Economy

The black profiles called silhouettes are named after Etienne de Silhouette, the Finance Minister of France in 1758. Silhouette made an immediate name for himself by the stringent economies he effected in public finance. It was his policy to refuse to pay for more than "the shadow of any substance." The process of outlining profiles thrown by shadow on to a white sheet had just been introduced at that time, and as these pictures were considered exactly to resemble the Minister's avowed policy, his name was immediately bestowed upon them.

Liquor In Bulk

Saskatchewan Commission Planning To Follow Lead Of Other Provinces

The Saskatchewan Liquor Commission is planning to follow the lead of other provinces and import certain brands of liquor in bulk instead of in bottles.

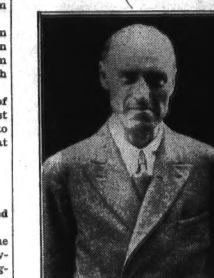

By importing hogsheads of liquor and bottling it there, a saving is effected on overhead items such as the cost of bottling and excise duties. The bulk purchase scheme, it is expected, will mean lower prices to the purchaser.

A Worth-While Idea

Here's a little idea worth keeping tucked back somewhere in your mind. Otherwise, in getting the spare loose the car may be shaken enough to cause it to slip off the jack.

BRITISH PARLIAMENTARIANS

Hon. Sir Phillip Cunliffe-Lister, and his private secretary, Captain T. L. Dugdale, M.P.

Distinguished Visitors Deliver Addresses On Trip Through Western Canada

By the achievement of the Imperial Conference we have shown how a great group of nations can organize for trade purposes along right lines, is the opinion of the Right Honorable Sir Phillip Cunliffe-Lister, C.B.E., M.C., M.P., Secretary of State for the Colonies, expressed during a brief stop in Winnipeg on a tour over Canada Pacific Railway lines to the west coast.

Sir Phillip was accompanied by a group of keen young British parliamentarians eager to see western Canada in the harvest season. Among them were his own private secretary, Captain T. L. Dugdale, M.P., for Richmond and Yorkshire, one of the largest agricultural counties in England; J. P. L. Thomas, M.P., private secretary to the Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs; Geoffrey Lloyd, M.P., private secretary to the Lord President of the Council, and Viscount Hinchinbrooke, private secretary to the Right Honorable Stanley Baldwin.

"In England," said the distinguished visitor, "we have taken the tariff out of politics and put it into business, making it an entirely business proposition. The tariff has to be adjusted to what the producers need and so more. Recognition of that fact marks all the agreements that were reached at the conference. Everything was approached from the point of view of getting the equilibrium between supply and demand, so that all would get the fairest prices."

Sir Phillip felt that British manufacturers would devote more attention to developing the Canadian market as a result of the concessions made by the Dominion Government and that the situation and the market possibilities were already being studied. He had every confidence in the ultimate results.

American Nature Association Party Meet With Success In Rockies

After four weeks on the trail along the northern boundary of Jasper National Park and the adjacent mountains of British Columbia, the American Nature Association party returned to Jasper Park Lodge with several thousand feet of big game motion picture films.

Under the leadership of Arthur N. Pack, Princeton, N.J., president of the association, the party included Lawrence S. Rockefeller, Tarrytown, N.Y., son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.; Mrs. Pack, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bryan, Jr., all of Princeton.

Some novel stalking won a number of fine shots for the camera crew. Wearing white costumes with hoods, Mr. and Mrs. Pack aroused sufficient interest among the ordinarily-suspicious goats to approach within a few feet of them on one occasion. In the Teton Valley the party discovered a herd of more than 100 caribou and acquired some fine close-ups. Later, in the Snake Indian River country, they ran across practically every kind of game in the Canadian Rockies.

"I got one fine filly," said Mr. Pack, "by dropping on hands and knees and imitating him when he lowered his head and stamped his foot to show anger. We exchanged words and compliments until I had crawled to within ten feet of him. Then he took to his heels and it all made a fine picture."

A Record For Speed

Parcel From Montreal Reached Baghdad In Thirteen Days

From Montreal to Baghdad in 13 days—this is the record established in sending a 10-pound sample consignment of Canadian industrial products to Baghdad.

Of the 13-day period, seven days were taken for an ordinary steamship crossing from Montreal to Liverpool. From the Merseyside the package was expressed to London, thence by automobile to Croydon airport where it was just in time to catch the London-Indian mail plane. On the 13th days of its journey the consignment reached its destination, ready to capture a new market in the Near East.

Indications More Favorable

Better Tone Said To Revivify Business Circles

Although no definite improvement has yet appeared in the volume of Canadian trade, a better tone pervades business circles and greater activity is in sight, according to a business summary of the Bank of Montreal.

Full average crops are assured, says the report. Wheat crops in the prairie provinces will run 100,000,000 bushels more than last year and low harvesting costs will be helpful to farmers and all branches of business. Except for hay, crops in other provinces are excellent. Livestock prices are low but marketings are large and the dairy industry maintains a normal output with recent advances in the price of cheese and butter.

Most manufacturers continue afloat but shipping is better than last season; more grain has passed through Montreal; more British coal is being imported and a stronger autumn business is expected.

The report points to the general hardening of commodity prices as an encouraging sign. Export trade for July was higher than in any month since December. Imports were down, increasing Canada's favorable trade balance.

More confident feeling with a rise in commodity prices is reported for both the United Kingdom and the United States.

British Speed Up

Telephone System

Invention Called "Ghost Circuits" Perfected By Post Office

In an effort to speed up the British telephone system the post-office has perfected an invention which is expected to prove revolutionary.

A new system of "ghost" telephone circuits using one pair of telephone lines has been introduced.

It established a new British record when first inaugurated to tell the world of Kaye Don's record-breaking run in the British speed boat, "Miss England III," on Loch Lomond.

"The new development is based on the carrier wave system of voice transmission," said an official of the G.P.O.

"It really alters the principle of wireless applied to the telephone. The engineers, who have been testing at the research station in London, have established that in theory one circuit of two wires can be used for any number of circuits.

"Conversation on the 'ghost' circuit is absolutely private. This is regarded as a great achievement."

Had Urge To March

Persistent Applicant For Work Wanted At Portsmouth

An automobile manufacturer, from Toledo told about something that happened at his factory. For weeks, for months, one man had been coming in almost daily, looking for a job. Nothing discouraged him. To reports that they weren't putting anybody on didn't expect to put anybody on, he merely nodded. Then a day or two later he would come back and ask for a job, hopefully, as if it were an entirely new idea. Life went on, and eventually the factory decided to put on some men. The personnel manager had the persistent fellow well in mind and when next he called told him to come the following Monday. For the first time the applicant looked doubtful.

"I'd better not come Monday," he said. "I'd have to lay off Tuesday."

The personnel manager went under this. "I've got to go to Youngstown Tuesday," the applicant explained. "I've got to march in an unemployment parade."

Church Service Held On Nelson's Flagship

Was Notable Event Of Navy Week At Portsmouth

Naval officers and blue-jackets stood bareheaded with citizens of Portsmouth, on the decks of the Victory, for the first public church service that has ever been held to usher in Navy Week.

More than a thousand people gathered on the stone paving below surrounding the famous old warship to join in the service, which was relayed by loud speakers.

The hymns were, "O God our help in ages past," and "For those in peril on the sea."

The Bishop of Portsmouth based his sermon on the life of the navy's greatest admiral, Nelson.

A small group of people afterwards filled Nelson's day cabin, two decks below, surrounded by his own furniture, to receive communion from the admiral's own communion plate.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY—
MARGARET FIDLER

She made no pretence at mourning the man who had turned her life into a living hell for nearly three years and who had stood like gaoler between her and the happiness which might have been hers had she been free. But the conversation, as well as her own feelings, dictated that a decent interval must elapse before she and Nick could be married, and this would be for her a quiet period dedicated to the readjustment of her whole attitude towards life.

The length of this period was the subject of considerable discussion. Nick protested that six months was amply long enough to wait—too long, indeed—but Claire herself seemed disposed to prolong her widowhood into a year.

"It isn't in the least because I feel I owe it to Adrian," she said in answer to Nick's protest. "I don't consider that I owe him anything at all. But I feel so battered, Nick, so utterly tired and weary after the perpetual struggle of the last three years that I don't want to plunge suddenly into the new duties of a new life—not even into new happiness. It's difficult to make you understand, but I feel just like a sponge which has soaked up all it can and simply can't absorb any more of anything. You must let me have time for the past to evaporate a bit."

But it required the addition of a few commonplace observations on the part of Lady Anne to drive the nail home.

"Claire is quite right, Nick," she told him. "She is temporarily worn out—mentally, physically and spiritually spent. Her nerves have been kept at their utmost stretch off and on for years, and now that release has come they've collapsed like a fiddle-string when the peg that holds it taut is loosened. You must give her time to recover, to key herself up to normal pitch again. At present she isn't fit to face even the demands that big happiness brings in its train."

So Nick had perforce to bow to Claire's decision and it was settled that the first month or two, at least, of her widowhood Jean should remove herself and her belongings from the house and bear her company at Charnwood. And meanwhile Nick and Claire would spend many peaceful hours together of quiet happiness and companionship, while Claire, as she herself expressed it, "rebuild her soul."

To Jean the issue of events had brought her nothing but pure joy. Her belief had been justified, and the grim gateway of death had become for these two friends of hers the gateway of happiness.

She had neither seen nor heard anything of Burke since the day she had fled from him on the Moor, although indirectly she had discovered that he had quitted the bungalow the day following that of her flight from it and had gone to London.

Judith sent her a brief, rather formal letter of congratulation upon her engagement, but in it she made no reference to him nor did she endeavour to explain away or palliate her own share in his scheme to force Jean's hand. Probably an odd kind of loyalty to her brother prompted her from clearing herself at his expense, added to a certain dogged pride which emerged, conveyed by the deep, rich green of the grass, the strong, woody growth of the trees, the full-blown glory of the roses nodding on their stems.

To the left, in the shade of a stately cedar, Lady Anne and Jean were ensconced with their sewing and writing materials at hand, and the rays of sunshine, filtering between the widespread branches above them, woke fugitive gold and silver lights in the downcast auburn and white-crowned heads. Further away, in the valley below, the broken smudge of a wide-bottomed boat broke the smooth expanse of the lake whence the mingled laughter of Nick and Claire came floating up on the breeze.

It was a peaceful scene, full of intimate happiness and tender promises, and Blaise watched it with contented eyes.

The voice of Blaise, formal and urbane, roused him from a pleasant reverie.

"Madame de Varigny," announced that functionary, throwing open the door and standing aside for the visitor to enter.

Blaise rose courteously to greet her, holding out his hand. But the Countess shook her head.

"No, I will not shake hands," she said abruptly. "When you know why I am come, you will not want to shake hands with me."

There was something not unattractive about the outspoken refusal to sail under false colours, more especially softened as it was, by the charm of the faintly foreign accent and intonation.

Madame de Varigny had paused a moment in the middle of the room, and as she regarded her host with curiously appraising eyes, and as Blaise returned her gaze he was conscious, as once before at the fancy-dress ball at Montevaux, of the strange sense of familiarity this woman had for him. "I am sorry for that," he said, answering her refusal to shake hands. "Won't you, at least, sit down?" pulling forward a chair.

"Yes, I will sit."

She sank into the chair with the quick, graceful motion of the South, and continued to regard Blaise with her lashes. Had Jean been present, she would have been struck anew by the expression of implacability which hardened the dark brown eyes. By that, and by something else well—a look of unmistakable triumph.

"I have much to—much to say to you, Monsieur Tor-marin," she began at last. "I will commence by telling you a little about myself. I am—" here she looked away for an instant, then shot a swift, penetrating glance at him—"I tell you by birth."

Powdering Rubber By Mechanical Process

British Financial Support Given To Invention Of Dutchman

Powerful British financial support is said to be behind the plan to establish a company for the production of rubber in powdered form at Amsterdam. Great interest is being taken in the proposal, but all details are kept secret.

The process has been invented by a Dutchman, and its chief importance lies in the claim that rubber can be produced in powder form by means of a mechanical process whereas hitherto only a chemical process has been made in mixing the powdered rubber with asphalt for road surface purposes.

Claims Irish First To Sight America

Professor Believes St. Brendan Arrived Before Leif Erickson

Nova Scotia have been giving some attention to claims of the Irish to having discovered America. Opinions vary. F. F. Tupper of Milton Queen's County, inclines to the opinion that pagan Irish of the fifth century may have visited these shores before Leif Erickson.

Tupper says: "While some of us may be inclined to believe St. Brendan (an Irish monk), did visit America some four centuries before Erickson, we can hardly go so far as to advise that any account of such a voyage should be accepted as authentic."

He continues, however, by paying the report of Brendan's alleged visit to America spread to parts of Europe because Martin Behaim on his globe of 1492 shows the supposed discovery of an island about the size of Ireland named "St. Brendan."

Tupper alleges that the Fall River skeleton clad in "broken and corroded armor" hymned by Longfellow as a Viking, was actually Irish remains.

Also there was a round stone tower found at Newport which, says our researcher, was of the type built by the Scotts, the dominant race of Ireland, as places of worship. Further he finds in America numerous mounds similar to the Iberian barrows of Europe. H. L. D'Entremont, he says, in a recent book tells of finding on the eastern side of Puerto Rico a stone coffin such as those used by the Iberians.

Spend Too Much On Cars

Automobile Executive Admits That Purchases In Past Have Been Too Lavish

Suggestion by an automobile company executive that in the past people have spent too much money on cars featured speeches delivered at a luncheon held in connection with automotive industries day at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

"I have no figures for Canada but conditions here are very similar to those south of the line as far as our industry is concerned, and in 1929 in the United States more than 19 per cent. of the consumer's dollar went to the automobile industry," said D. R. Grossman, president of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"I question whether we can or should continue to receive such a large percentage. We may continue to sell a greater number of cars or achieve a greater dollar volume but I feel it is necessary that a smaller percentage of the consumer's dollar should go to one industry. A far more healthy, stable and permanent condition would be built up if that dollar were distributed more equitably to all industries."

New Kind Of Wheat

Cross-Bred Wheat Said To Be Immune To Hessian Fly

A new kind of "cross-bred" wheat that has inherited resistance to the Hessian fly, a wheat pest, was described by J. W. Parker and R. H. Painter, of the Kansas Agricultural Experimental Station, before the International Conference of Genetics.

The new wheat had less than one per cent. infestation by the fly as compared with 41 to 45 per cent. for a type susceptible to the fly. They found the quality of resistance to the fly can be combined with other desirable qualities such as bread-making quality, stiff straw and winter hardiness.

Retain Consular Services

U.S. Not Planning To Close Any Consular Offices In Dominion

Though the state department is working on a programme to close United States consulates as an economy move, it is learned at the department that none in Canada is likely to be shut down. The United States maintains 29 consulates and six consular agencies in the Dominion, more than twice as many as in other countries, but it is said by state department officials that all are busy.

Asked by congress last spring what contributions his department could make to government savings, Secretary of State Stimson said he would rather close minor embassies and legations than curtail consular services abroad. It was rumored then that the United States legation at Ottawa might come under the economy axe but this report was denied and it is now said there is no intention to remove from the Canadian capital its senior foreign diplomatic establishment.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

LIKE FLOWERS

Women are like flowers:
Jasmine and rose
Through June's sunny hours
All their charms disclose.
Mignonette and lily,
Larkspur, coral spray,
Under breezes chilly
Shrink and fade away.
But when summer gaily
Dances down the lanes,
They are fairer
To her blithe refrain.
Love is sunshine, falling
When moon's mist depart:
Love is summer, calling
To a woman's heart.
Women are like flowers:
Until life is done
Living for those hours
When they see love's sun.

To Beat Unemployment

Germany Plans To Put University Graduates On Farms

Placing university trained young men on farms is the object of associations formed in Berlin and Leipzig, Germany, among the university people themselves. Jobs as agricultural laborers are being sought for thousands. Because, within a short time every third university trained man in Germany will have to join the ranks of the unemployed, unless something is done about it. Efforts are being made to get farm work for as many as possible of the 60,000 academically trained men now unemployed.

Mosquitoes Being Raised For Use In Treating Parasites

Caring for the pestiferous insects as if they were allying beasts, the public health service is succeeding at Columbia, S.C., in raising mosquitoes needed for treatment of dread parasites. #### German Medical Men Solve Old Problem

Claim Jealousy Caused By Excess Of Iodine In Blood

A number of prominent German medical men have solved the mystery of jealousy that has baffled the human race for many centuries. The Berlin physician simultaneously experimented on a number of women in municipal hospitals and have now come to the conclusion that an excess of iodine in the blood causes men and women to become jealous.

The medical men asked for volunteers to submit to experiments. The men were too proud and did not accept, but a great many women volunteered and allowed themselves to be hypnotized. Blood was drawn from them and submitted to microscopical examination. It was proven that the blood of jealous women had a hundred per cent. more iodine than that of women not so disposed.

Believe It Or Not

Resident Of Halifax Comes Along With Good Fish Story

The best fish story of this season is told by a resident of historic old Halifax. The story is about a gold fish, not the one who had no privacy, but an extremely adventurous gold fish.

The gold fish, according to a reputable Halifax journal, jumped four feet from its bowl to a chestfield, where it lay in a state of coma for goodness knows how long. Discovered by its heart-broken owner before rigor mortis had set in, it was placed in cold water. No result. But upon being held over the stove it was reminded of its old home among the rice fields of Japan and gave several encouraging wiggles. Back again in its natural element it resumed its exposed and wandering, if restricted, manoeuvres. Believe it or not, and wonder what a gold fish thinks about.

The First Railway Whistle

Was Used Hundred Years Ago In Leicester Road

London newspapers to hand comment on the fact that July 17 last, was the centenary of the railway whistle, stating "that the design has changed little since a Leicester musical instrument maker fashioned a steam trumpet to be worked from the boiler." On July 17, 1822, the first train was run on the Leicester and Swannington Railway, and the management, realizing that there was no other warning available than the old coach horn, gave the order for the steam trumpet. The locomotive has thus been whistling for a hundred years and there are many persons who will hope that the whistle will still be heard a century hence.—Montreal Gazette.

The children were soon well again, and I am very thankful to your wonderful remedy. I find it is the only one that relieves so easily and quickly."

DECLARE THEY HATE SIGHT OF DUST CLOTHS

Canadian women vote dust cloths a nuisance to use and to wash

MUCH PREFER APPLEFORD WONDER PAPER

With so much inventive thought being given to eliminating unnecessary household work, it is only natural that a worthwhile substitute for the dusty dust cloth should be sought.

Now it has been found! Appleford Wonder Paper which actually dusts—as it cleans—as it polishes is receiving a hearty welcome from Canadian women who detest dust cloths and all they stand for. Wonder Paper is made from clean rag and soft paper pulp, thoroughly impregnated with a high-grade furniture polish, and absorbs dirt instead of spreading it.

Appleford Wonder Paper comes in handy-size packets, twenty-five sheets, each as large as a dust cloth. You merely crumple a sheet into a soft pad, and go over the surfaces requiring attention.

You'll be amazed at the quick and lasting finish Wonder Paper gives. When one side is worn and soiled, simply turn the Wonder Paper inside out. After the furniture or woodwork has been gone over, you can still use your Wonder Paper on the floors.

And when you're through—throw it away. No dust to shake out or wash. No bother at all. The most objectionable part of household work in half the time and with half the effort. Doesn't the idea appeal to you?

Special Offer

Wonder Paper is made by the makers of the famous PAKA-SANI heavy wadded paper in the Green Box. Most grocery hardware and department stores sell Appleford Wonder Paper. If you don't, just send the coupon and I'll give you a new and unique booklet entitled "Left-overs," containing one hundred recipes, as a bonus for your trouble.

The Passing of "Jim" Gadsby

Word comes from Mirror that there passed away in the Stettin Hospital last week, one of Alberta's most picturesque characters, in the person of James A. ("Jim") Gadsby, who has resided for nearly half a century on the shore of Spotted Lake near the old trading post of Lamberton, now known as Mirror. A resident of Alberta since the late 70's, Jim Gadsby has seen and done much in pursuing back the West's frontier. No one knew how old he was, not even himself, but he must have been approaching the century mark when the eyes that had witnessed so much in the building of Canada's West were dimmed for all time.

In the early 90's, Lacombe knew Jim Gadsby well. He built a house as a familiar sight at the Town Centre. He frequented over the old Buffalo Lake Trail to the ranches around Lamberton, one of which was our fellow townsman A. F. Inskip, who lived in the Spotted Lake district in 1902. Jim's return trips from Lacombe with supplies were frequently delayed a matter of ten days or so when he failed to convince the local authorities that his efforts to create a little excitement around town were nothing but harmless amusement.

Born in St. Catharines, Ontario, as a young man he drifted across the border and offered himself as a substitute for anyone drafted for service in the Union Army during the Civil War. Jim's modesty was to be substituted for some wealthy young man, accept his $500.00, which was the regular price, go to camp for ten days or so and then desert, turning up at some other recruiting centre and going through the same performance. An officer from another camp with a disconcerting memory for faces, spotted Jim, and his military career as a recruit in the Yankee army ended abruptly but not until he had substituted for five patriotic citizens under different names. Drifting westward, at the close of the Civil War he enlisted with General Custer, also under another name, and took part in the subjugation of the Indians under that famous plainsman, but apparently he tired of this life for when that gallant unit was wiped out to the last man, Jim was not with him, having sought fields anew and pastures green. He took part, also, in the side of law and order against the James and Younger bandits of outlaws, which were poised on the trains and banks in the stirring 70's.

The lure of gold in the Deadwood hills of South Dakota beckoned Jim, but if he ever won a stake in that rip roaring camp he never told of it. Returning once more across the border to 42nd land where he was born, he rode as a cow hand for the Stinson ranch of which George Lans was foreman, west of High River, and ended in Calgary a year or two before the Canadian Pacific Railway entered that lively cow town. These were prohibition days and in order to slake one's thirst legally, one must procure a permit from the Lieutenant Governor at Regina. After the railroad reached Calgary, Jim undertook to change the order of things by importing whiskey from Manitoba in barrels, disguised as flour or some other household commodity and retail it out to the thirsty ones, and there were many, without the formality of selling His Honour for a permit. Business was good then but the Mounties kept a sharp eye peeled for contraband liquor with the result that it took a good man to outsmart the scarlet coated boys of those days. Jim never failed to get a laugh out of the tale he told of snatching a barrel of liquor right out from under the noses of the "Mounties" at the old C.P.R. station east of the Elbow. He and a partner had ordered a barrel shipped to John Gallagher, marked "salt," but a nun named March, the station agent, at that time became suspicious of the contents and tipped off the police. For two days the barrel which was parked in the middle of the loading platform was never out of sight of at least one eagle-eye "Mountie" and it began to look as if that particular investment of Gadsby and Co., would be written off as a dead loss. "My partner and I went into conference," Jim was wont to tell, "and we decided we would have to act that night if we ever hoped to rescue our nose paint. We got a length of rubber tube that would fit over a piece of half inch pipe and while Butlin talked to the Mounties down at the other end of the platform that night, I bored a hole up through the platform right into the barrel and shoved the pipe in. I had a cork in the end of the rubber hose and a five-barrel can. My team was 400 yards around the hill and while Butlin entertained the cop and his relief who came at about 11 o'clock, I carried 10 cans of tangiefest to my rig and unloaded them. Next day most everybody was drunk and the police sent their team and wagon down to the station to get the barrel up to the barracks. I was on the platform and if I lived to be a hundred I'll never forget the look on those boys' faces when instead of seeing away at a barrel loaded with 500 pounds of nose paint, she came up in their hands like an empty ash can. One pointed to the hole in the barrel and the other pointed at the one in the platform and if you think those laddies didn't swear you got another guess coming. They couldn't prove nothing on me but they pinched me on a charge of "moral turpitude" or something like that and gave me thirty days for laughing at them on the platform."

Shortly after the above episode, Jim Gadsby came west and settled on the shore of Spotted Lake, 25 miles east of Lacombe. Returning with a load of freight, one day, he met at a point where the village of Tees is located, a Cree Indian buck belonging to a young squaw who had thrown a young squaw into the brush for safety. It was right alongside the trail," related Jim "and as I drove up I let him have a flick with my bull whip which just about sliced off his ear. He wanted to argue the point and dared me to get down. Indians couldn't fight with their fists and that bird never had a chance. When I looked around, the squaw was up on my load with the papoose and in spite of all my arguments to the contrary, she never let on she heard me. I drove on to Lacombe and it so happened a priest from Peace Hills (Wotaskiwin) was there at the post. Me and the Cree girl went through a little ceremony that night and she has been with me all these years. Five children were born to Jim and his wife and they operate the 640 acre farm at Mirror. The little papoose of the trail episode lived to be a woman of 40 before succumbing to that disease, the dreaded enemy of all Indian tribes, tuberculosis.

In the Klondike days, he guided many parties of goldseekers to the Athabasca by way of Edmonton, his knowledge of the country being, in great demand. For the past twenty years he has lived in comparative obscurity, but his experiences in the early years of white settlement of what is now known as the Province of Alberta would have provided many a thrill to the youth of today. His passing breaks another link in the historical chain of the old West with the New—and there also passes one of the outstanding colorful figures in Alberta's fast-disappearing group of pioneers.

Guy Ayres Killed In Auto Crash

Following the empanelling of a coroner's jury to inquire into death of Guy Ayres, 32-year-old Blackfalds farmer, who received fatal injuries in a head-on automobile collision on the main highway two miles south of here on Monday, the inquest was adjourned for one week when it is hoped, the occupants of the two cars in question now receiving medical treatment, will be available to give evidence.

The only evidence submitted at the hearing on Tuesday was that of Dr. F. D. Locke, attending physician to Mr. Ayres, who stated that death was caused by a fracture of the skull. The jury is made up entirely of Lacombe men, as follows: Thomas Wilkes, F. O. Vickerson, Duke Parsons, David Hay, R. Thompson and George Friswell.

An inspection of the two cars involved in the accident reveals that they were both badly demolished and the marvel is that any occupants escape death.

The car driven by S. Laird and occupied by Ed. Cannon and others was on its side, with all glass broken, the drive shaft bent and the frame twisted. Both front and back seats were saturated with blood.

The car in which Ayres was riding with wife and her mother, was standing upright on the opposite side of the road, a complete example of demolition, ruined beyond repair.

From all information available at present, it appears that Ayres was proceeding to his Blackfalds home from Lacombe, going south, when Laird, coming from the south, rounded a slight curve in the road and the cars collided. The injured were rushed to Lacombe hospital, where Ayres died. His wife is suffering from a broken arm and many severe body and face injuries. Her condition is said to be serious. Her mother is also seriously injured and authorities state that neither is yet out of danger.

Edward Cannon, passenger in the other car, suffered a dislocated knee-cap and severe cuts on the face and arms, while S. Laird is in a serious condition suffering from shock and severe cuts and bruises.

One explanation of the accident is that a front wheel of one of the cars broke off on the turn, throwing them together.

Initiative Wins.

When Marshal Foch was given command of the French army during the World War, one of the first things he is reported to have said was: "To be—1 with history and principles! What is the problem?" Though Foch was perhaps the world's greatest student of military strategy, he was no slave to it. He tackled each problem with initiative and vim. This method won for Foch.

The Review of Reviews magazine declares that a study of recent reports will show that those industrial organizations that exerted wise and sustained vim and initiative profited more than those which stood pat watchfully waiting, or those which imitated others. It points out that the larger the business, the more it tends to become standardized, system and routine often kill initiative and stifle progress. This explains in part why a small organization will so often place a new, out-of-the-ordinary product upon the market, something for which a real need has long existed but which no one previously appeared to have recognized.

Safety glass, now used so widely for windshields and bank glasses, is the result of alertness and initiative. Non-shattering glass was discovered accidentally by a French chemist who knocked over a test-tube that had been used for months. Stopping to pick up the pieces, he discovered that the paste substance in the tube held the broken glass intact. Mentally alert, the chemist remembered that the tube contained a mixture of trinitro-cellulose, ether and acetone. Experiments followed and safety glass was the result.

Rear Admiral David Watson Taylor is credited for having been able to reduce the coal bill of the United States Navy by one-half, utilizing the bow wave for ship propulsion. A biscuit company making money only erratically saw its sales rise enormously by fashioning cookies in the shape of dogs, animals, and similar enticing forms. A manufacturer of towels was able to build up sales enormously by introducing towels in colors to harmonize with the bathroom tiles. Children's towels were created. Complete ensembles were worked out—towels, washcloths, bathmats. That plant is reported to have maintained full capacity throughout the depression.

Foods have undergone marked development because of research followed by initiative. It was discovered that tomato juice is rich in vitamins A, B, and C, and in three years, tomato juice has caught the public's fancy. Progressive manufacturers of canning machinery were alert to their opportunity. In two years the sales of canned tomato juice have a gain of 629 per cent., and bottled 177 per cent.

Today there is no paucity of opportunities. But there is paucity of vision, initiative, and courage to capitalize them. As Charles Kettering, vice-president in charge of research, General Motors Corporation, says, "Business will come back when men get products that people want to buy. If one-tenth of the energy was spent in getting such products instead of stirring up the mud, we would get along better."

The task of leaders is to lead. There is not an industry or a line of manufacture but affords unappreciated opportunity for initiative. Today, as during the days of the World War, executives might think to advantage as Marshal Foch was thinking when he said, "To hell with history and principles! What is the problem?"

Physiology Congress

Mussolini Speaks To 1,200 Delegates In Attendance

Premier Mussolini addressed 1,200 delegates at the opening session of the 14th International Physiology Congress, at Rome, and wished his hearers well in their scientific experiments for the progress of civilization. Nineteen Canadian delegates were in attendance.

Sitting at the speaker's table in the hall of Julius Caesar in the capital, where the session was held, the premier showed intense interest in nerves, muscles, cells, tissues, and other technical subjects which were discussed by the physiologists.

He listened closely while Dr. A. V. Hill, of the University of London, England, described complicated experiments, and then warmly congratulated the British scientist.

Samples of permanent record paper recently submitted by manufacturers for test were pronounced of such good quality that they should endure indefinitely if stored under favorable conditions.

A new camphor factory in Japan is to make intensive studies of the economic and scientific side of the camphor industry.

Size Of Farms In Canada

Average Farm Between 100 and 200 Acres In Extent

From information obtained when the last official decennial census of Canada was taken in June, 1931, the average size of the farms in the Dominion is now known. Of the 726,664 farms, 233,325 are between 101 and 200 acres, 187,636 are 201 and over, 148,258 are between 51 and 100 acres, 49,077 are between 11 and 50 acres, 43,748 between one and 10 acres, and 35,620 are between 201 and 299 acres. The farms with the largest acreage are in the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. In Eastern Canada the statistics show that in Prince Edward Island the largest group is the 51 to 100 acres with 5,071 farms. The similar group is also the largest for Nova Scotia and New Brunswick with 10,325 and 11,457 farms respectively. In these three provinces the number of farms over 300 acres is small.

In the Province of Quebec there are 45,423 farms with acreage between 101 and 200 acres, forming the largest group for the province. In Ontario, on the other hand, the farms with acreages between 51 and 100 acres form the largest group with 68,620 farms.

A comparison with the census of 1921 shows a remarkable increase in the groups having the largest acreages with a corresponding decrease in the smallest size farms.

Canada's Chartered Banks

Ten Doing Business Now Against Twenty-Eight At Confederation

One of the ten chartered banks which now serve the Dominion has been celebrating its centenary—the Bank of Nova Scotia which was chartered in 1832. It is a remarkable fact that only one of these ten is a product of the present century, and even that one (Barclays) is the step-child of an Old Country bank which dates back to 1896. All our other more recent banks have been merged in the long-established institutions and today the list is as follows:

Bank of Montreal, chartered... 1832
Bank of Nova Scotia... 1832
Bank of Toronto... 1855
Banque Provinciale (under name Jacques Cartier)... 1862
Bank of Commerce... 1867
Royal Bank... 1869
Dominion Bank... 1871
Banque Canadienne Nationale (as Bank Hochelaga)... 1874
Imperial Bank... 1875
Barclays Bank of Canada... 1929

In comparison with the ten banks of today, there were at Confederation, twenty-eight banks in the Maritimes. All ten which now serve Canada are managed from either Toronto or Montreal. Only one of them is of more recent origin than 1875. One, the Bank of Montreal, really dates back to 1817, but it was at that time a private bank. There has been only one bank failure in sixteen years.—Toronto Daily Star.

Old Law Revived

Soviets Are Now Imposing Death Penalty For Theft

After ten years the Soviet has revived the death penalty for theft—of any kind of property, in transit by rail or water, especially the property of co-operatives and collective farms. The same decree enforces the "kulak-capitalist elements" from using violence or threats to induce collectivized peasants to leave the collectives under penalty of imprisonment up to ten years, hitherto the maximum penalty here for all crimes, including murder, except counter-revolution.

Bacon Exports Increase

July Shipments Higher Than Corresponding Month Last Year

The month of July saw Canada move into fourth place among the exporters supplying the United Kingdom with bacon, supplanting Sweden. Of the total imports of bacon to the United Kingdom during that month Denmark supplied 27,174,000 pounds, Poland 11,010,000, Netherlands 6,671,000, and Canada 3,488,000. Sweden supplied 2,926,000 pounds.

Canada's export of bacon to the United Kingdom jumped enormously as compared with July, 1931, when they totalled only 184,576 pounds.

Persian Balm preserves and enhances woman's natural heritage of beauty, supplanting Sweden. It is unrivalled. Tones and rejuvenates the skin, and makes it exquisite in texture. Delightful to use. Smooth and velvety. It imparts a youthful charm to every complexion. Indispensable to all beauty women. Especially recommended to make hair soft and white. Delicately fragrant. Preserves and enhances the loveliest complexion.

Columbia Ice-Field

The Columbia ice-field in the Canadian Rockies is one of the most remarkable alpine features of that great region. It is situated in southern Jasper and northern Banff National Parks, Alberta, and covers an approximate area of 110 square miles. It lies upon the crest of the main Divide and represents the culmination of the immense snow and ice deposits which crown the crests of these ranges.

About one-half the world's lepers are in China.

Men's Greatest Invention

Hammer Is More Necessary Than Any Tool Made

If you ask half a dozen people what they consider to be the greatest invention ever made, the majority will suggest such things as the steam engine, the dynamo, or the electric telephone. But these are only the result of a much earlier and far more important discovery. The earliest and greatest invention ever made by man was the hammer.

You cannot undertake any piece of constructional work without a hammer. Though you may not actually use it, it must have been employed in making the tools with which you do the work. The hammer was the first tool which enabled man to multiply his strength; to do something which was impossible with his bare hands.

It was probably invented by a remote ancestor who had the inspiration to use a stone for cracking the shell of an oyster or whelk. The earliest hammer had no handle. They were merely conveniently shaped stones held in the palm of the hand. Fasten such a stone to a handle and you have a much more effective tool. Sharpen its business end to an edge by chipping off flakes, and it becomes a stone axe. The formation of an edge on the earliest flint tools could be done only by means of a hammer. The hammer thus gave birth to both the axe and the adze, the earliest of cutting tools.

From the adze and the chisel to the saw is but a step. The drill is simply a small chisel. It was first fixed to a round shaft and rotated by the palms of the hands; later, primitive man invented the bow and string method of turning it. The bow and string drill is still in use in certain trades.

Medical Science Finds

Chinese Doctors Right

Experiments Prove "Pin-Prick" Cure Has Its Merit

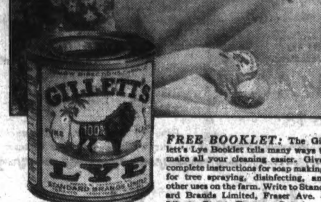

The Chinese doctors have one method of curing their patients which has always bewildered and amused the western world. If a man is ill, they stick a pin into him. If not a pin, at any rate, a needle or a copper wire that is pointed. They do just this, and nothing more. No drugs are used.

In a good many ailments this cure has nearly always been successful, and westerners put it down to faith curing—the powers of suggestion. Now, after many centuries, medical science has decided that something of the kind may eventually be provided for those infected with the speed virus.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Motion Without Motive

Chinese Description Of Western Civilization Fits Speed Maniac

Judging by the number of convictions in recent weeks, the Ontario authorities are in earnest in their determination to make the highways of that Province safe for the average motorist.

There is rarely any intelligent reason for driving any beyond a reasonable speed. Occasionally, in an emergency, fast driving may be justified. For the most part it is merely craziness.

One of the most frequent causes of fast driving is the desire merely to pass some one on the highway. In particular, which gives point to the Chinese observer's description of Western civilization as "motion without motive." The speed maniac might just as well be driving around an enclosed motorway as on the public highways. Perhaps something of the kind may eventually be provided for those infected with the speed virus.—Winnipeg Tribune.

British Bacon Quota

First Step Taken To Take Advantage Of Britain's Offer To Canada

First step in taking advantage of Great Britain's offer to Canada of a 280,000-pound quota of bacon was announced in Toronto, at the conference of ministers and officials from the departments of agriculture at Ottawa and the provinces.

Samuel E. Todd, secretary of the Meat Packers' Association, told the conference that henceforth Canadian packing houses would permit government inspectors to inspect hog carcasses "on the rail" in the abattoirs. This step will, it is considered, help the Canadian trade meet Danish competition in the British market. For some time past Danish producers have had the advantage of government inspection in the killing plant, while inspection in Canada, up to the present, has been made "on the hoof."

Boys His Home Village

After an absence of more than 40 years, William McGregor, who left his home in Latheronwheel, Calthness, Scotland, to seek his fortune in Australia, has returned to become the owner of his native village. As a boy he was employed in herding cows. Director of several Australian companies, he came back to visit his sister, Miss Jessie McGregor, who still lives in the cottage where they were born. He bought the village when it was placed on the market recently. It has about 120 inhabitants.

Drives Asthma Before It. The smoke or vapor from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy gives asthma no chance to linger. It eradicates the cause. Our experience with the relief-giving remedy shows how accurate and positive is the success it gives. It is the result of long study and experiment and was not submitted to the public until its makers knew it would do its work well.

His Voice

Newcomb was showing an office found over the young couple's new house. "All this luxurious furniture is my wife's idea, you know," he explained. The friend nodded approvingly. "Very nice, I'm sure," he replied; "but surely you had a voice in the matter." "Yes, the invoice," said the young husband.

Erosion taken 21 times as much plant food from the field and pastures of America as is removed by harvested crops.

A British patent has been granted on a device that sticks a pin in a sleeper as soon as he snores.

Mine Taken Over By Workers

Interesting Experiment Is Under Way In Nova Scotia

For a quarter of a century the people of Inverness, N.S., have been working for somebody else. Now they will be in business for themselves, directing and operating the coal mine that is the only industry in the town, and marketing its products.

Their co-operative plan, approved recently by the government of Nova Scotia, is expected to banish the threat, long dreaded by the town's 3,000 inhabitants, that the mine would be closed.

Under the agreement with the government, operation and control of the mine has been transferred to a new company, the Inverness Coal Co-operative Company, Limited, members of which are to be miners employed in that mine and taxpayers of Inverness.

Canadian Radio Programme

Broadcast From Plane

Contact Made With Station From Height Of 3,000 Feet

An advertising stunt that proved of some scientific importance was accomplished here recently when Arthur Dupont, local radio announcer, and Sydney M. Nesbitt, aeroplanist club official, successfully established contact with a Montreal radio station while flying 3,000 feet over the city. Both men gave short addresses which were clearly received by many wireless fans.

It was believed to be the first Canadian radio program broadcast from an aeroplane, though short addresses were broadcast from the airship R-100 over Ottawa in 1930.

Britain Is Providing

Underground Airports

Planes Will Use Inclines To Come To Surface

Underground airports are to be provided for the British Air forces. This decision was made after it was found that no camouflage could hide the hangars from the powerful lenses now being used in military cameras. The new airbases will be at a minimum depth of thirty feet. There will be inclines for planes to come to the surface and take off.

Worms in children's work haves. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines, and if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the hook variety that cling to and feed upon the interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms, of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

New Paint Seems Uncanny

How hot a kettle is at any moment can be told by the color of a paint which has just been invented. A kettle painted with the new material, which is a mixture of salts of mercury and copper, looks bright red when cold, but as it warms up above 140 degrees it becomes maroon colored. At 20 degrees higher it takes on a dull chocolate hue, and at boiling point it is quite black. Cooling brings its color back.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective is mild.

"Too bad about Tom and the girl he's engaged too. Neither one of them is good enough for the other." "Where did you get that idea?" "I've been talking the matter over with both families."

Eggs are better than a spring tonic, in view of the iron, vitamins and protein they contain, is the advice of the bureau of economics.

Feeder Purchase Policy

Designed To Encourage Winter Feeding Of Cattle and Lambs

Renewal of the Feeder Purchase Policy designed to encourage the winter feeding of cattle and lambs of suitable type and quality is announced by the Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture. Under the terms of this policy, broadly put, the Federal Department will pay the reasonable travelling expenses of a farmer or his agent to the stockyard point of purchase, the feeder sales, or nearest station to range point at which feeder stock is purchased. To secure the benefits of the policy at least one car of stock (20 head of cattle or 40 lambs, or a combined car, figured on 2 lambs as the equivalent of one beef animal) must be purchased. Stock purchased is subject to approval as to type and suitability by the official representative of the Dominion Live Stock Branch serving the point of purchase. Special provision has been made to extend the benefits of the policy respectively to farmers of Eastern Canada, of the Prairie Provinces, and of British Columbia.

Complete details and information about the policy and the benefits can be secured by writing the nearest stockyard agent of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, or direct to R. S. Hamer, Chief, Cattle Division, Dominion Live Stock Branch, Ottawa. The policy is operative for a period of five months from and after August 1, 1932.

Ontario Relief Organization

Public Welfare Board For Each Municipality To Handle Direct Relief

Organization of a public welfare board for each municipality to administer direct relief is recommended in the report of the advisory committee on direct relief to the Ontario Government, and announced by Hon. Dr. J. D. McNettel, Minister of Public Works and Labor. Where possible, it is also suggested that an association or league of organizations interested in public welfare should be organized to act in an advisory capacity and arrange for the conduct of campaigns in connection with the raising of funds, etc.

Grow Seedless Grapefruit

Secret Was Originally Discovered By South African Plowman

South African planters have mastered the secret of growing seedless grapefruit, and bulk supplies are now beginning to be exported. A careless plowman discovered the secret originally. His blade came in contact with a grapefruit root and a small tree, growing from the incision, produced sterile (seedless) grapefruit. South African growers experimented and found that similar results could be produced only under special conditions.

Housekeeping accounts on an Ohio farm indicate that a farm family of five people spends about the same money for food that a bachelor does in the city.

Rice accounts for about 80 per cent. of Spain's exports.

Popular Local Girl Weds

Toronto Star—Sept. 15, 1932
Quietly, in Bloor St. United church at 5:30 this afternoon an interesting wedding will be solemnized, culminating a romance which began when the two principals, Matthew Henry Hallon, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hallon of Pincher Creek, Alta, now a member of the staff of the Toronto Daily Star, and Miss Jean Josephine Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Campbell of Lacombe, Alta., attended Alberta university together.

The bride, who is a graduate of Alberta university, spent some time in Toronto, taking post graduate work and studying music at the Toronto Conservatory. The groom, who is an Alberta university scholarship man, spent two years in England and on the European continent, while attending the University of London. He joined the staff of The Star about a year ago.

Rev. Dr. Pigeon will officiate at the wedding ceremony, which will be attended by the immediate families and a few friends.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a frock of peach-colored silk net, over tulle, frilled gracefully with narrow ruffling from neckline to hem and made on long, fitted lines. A jacket of the net, with small puffed sleeves, will also be worn and a brimmed hat of peach-colored velvet, turned off the face, and an arm bouquet of roses and baby's breath will complete the costume.

Miss Helen Silverthorne and Mr. Jon Farrell of Toronto will attend as bridesmaid and best man.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held at the Royal York hotel and later the bride and groom will leave for a month's honeymoon to St. Pierre and Miquelon.

The bride will travel in a navy blue tailored suit, trimmed with beige lapin fur on the sleeves, and an egg shell satin blouse, with puffed sleeves. She will wear a navy blue felt hat and navy accessories.

I. O. D. E. SCHOLARSHIPS

The awards of the I. O. D. E. scholarships offered by the local Chapter in the Lacombe School are as follows: Grade VIII—$5.00, Mary Gilmour. Grade IX—$5.00, Donald McCormick.

Grade D—$5.00, Betty Gilmour. Grade XI—$25.00 Dorothy Sweet. In connection with the Grade XI award, some explanation may be necessary of the fact that Harvey Paul does not receive the prize, though he passed his required 7 units this year with the highest average in the class. The scholarship is awarded to a complete Grade XI only, i.e. 21 units. Harvey was unfortunately advised by his teachers in a previous year to drop one unit at Xmas, leaving him with only 20 complete units, not full Grade XI requirements. Dorothy Sweet in June passed 7 units, completing 23, which is two more than her required number. Full details of the terms of the scholarship offer will be made public shortly and as some changes are being contemplated those interested are requested to watch for further announcement.

HISTORIC SITE OFFERED FOR SALE

Reminiscences of early days in Lacombe were brought to light at a meeting of the Town Council last week when it was decided to offer the site of the old hydro-electric plant at the junction of the Red Deer and Blindman rivers for sale to the highest bidder. Between eighty and ninety acres of land comprising the site of the old dam which for years supplied water power to the 225 h.p. generator is being offered and a notice appears elsewhere in these columns.

The Town took over this plant in 1909 from the Blindman River Electric Power Company, an organization consisting of E. E. Farncombe, George S. Wilkins, Frances E. Wilkins and others at a cost of about $25,000.00. Shortage of water during the winter months in succeeding years compelled the town to erect a steam plant to protect its uninterrupted supply of current and also to supplement the plant due to the ever-increasing demands made upon it for electrical energy. Hydro and steam were jointly used for a number of years, until 1916, when the dam was washed out and not replaced.
